Ex-Madisonian on Suffrage.

The Climax is in receipt of an interesting paper on woman suffrage, prepared and read by Mrs. Eli B. Evans at a recent meeting of the Bay View, Mo., Club. Mrs. Evans was formerly Miss Emily Chenault, of this place, and is a sister of Judge J. C. Chenault and Hon. D. M. Chenault. She is being recognized in her home community as quite an essayist and the following article from her pen will be read with interest by her many old friends here:

Madam President and Ladies: I think women should be allowed to vote. I believe in a government of the people, for the people and by the people; and notwithstanding the diversity of opinion on the subject, I honestly think that women are people.

Of course there are various opinions concerning women. The Turk looks her in when he leaves home. The Hindu, the Chinese and others have their views. Some think she has no soul, some that she has no mind and some that she has no rights. And even in the "land of the free and the home of the brave" she has been classed politically with idiots and criminals.

My belief in woman's right to the ballot is not founded on statistics. To me it seems simply a matter of justice and fair dealing. The 13 colonies needed no statistics to convince them that "taxation without representation" was unjust—neither do we need statistics to prove to us the same fact. Thomas Jefferson had no statistics to prove to him that all men are created free and equal—neither do we require statistics to prove to us that woman is entitled to a fair deal. "Oh, but," some say, "woman has no business in politics."

"She is the home-maker." Very true.

But to the true patriot his nation is his home. What does the welfare of one's own hearth side amount to unless there be a strong and secure national government back of it?

"But a woman is represented by her husband," they tell us. Is she really? That might be true if every woman had a husband, and husbands and wives always agreed on vital subjects. Any way what is the matter with a woman's brain that she should depend even on her husband to do her thinking and voting?

"She who faces death by torture for each life beneath her breast" has an intensity of interest in the future welfare of that life, which, it seems, would render her especially fitted to show far-sightedness and wisdom in law-making. Kipling says: "The female of the species is more deadly than the male." He could have added with equal truth that she is also more faithful, more loving, more self-sacrificing—in other words, more intense, whatever the emotion—whether it be love or hatred. Her absorbing devotion to her own, he takes as proof that she couldn't be just to others. But are not women wise enough to know that their own are a part of the nation and that all stand or fall together? That the greatest good for the greatest number is the thing best for their own?

Man needed woman—that was why God made her. He is not complete without her. He needs her brains to see and think that which according to nature he cannot see nor think. No man can make a home without a woman's assistance; neither can he manage to the best advantage that larger home—his country—until women realize how all-important to themselves and their posterity is the subject of good government.

"But women are too busy with home duties," they tell us, "to have time to vote." If she is so closely confined as all that, I say, give her a holiday! On election day let her go to the polls and vote, while the men, if necessary, stay at home and rock the cradles and rule the world!

It was predicted that higher education would ruin women, just as it is to day that politics will lower her standard, her influence and her usefulness. I think that she who bears the race is worthy of greater confidence.

She has proved a blessing almost always and everywhere. Surely she will not fail in "home-making" in the larger sense of the word.

No one will deny that many of our most needed reforms in politics have come through the influence of woman. Then since she has benefited the government, having only an echo in its affairs, why fear to give her a voice?

VICK'S Croup and SALVE
FOR ALL COLD TROUBLES

Offers a Suggestion.

Mr. Will Lowe, the Shawnee Run philosopher, gives a good way to solve the fire insurance muddle. He says that according to figures the insurance companies collect over $5,000,000 from the people of Kentucky and only give back about 60 per cent. in the way of losses. Mr. Lowe's idea is for the State to embark in the insurance business and turn the profits over to the school fund. —Harrodsburg Herald.

Raised Big Hogs.

F. H. Darham, who recently located here, coming from Merrill, in Taylor county, informed the News a few days ago that before leaving his former home he slaughtered an immense hog. It weighed 750 pounds net. He sold the hog, the hams weighing 75 pounds each, the sides 100 pounds each and the shoulders each. The hog brought him $100. The mate to this hog netted 600 pounds. —The Columbia News.

Rooster Goes Driving.

Some unusual things sometimes happen. A well-known farmer and his wife, living about three miles from here, rose tolerably early one morning recently and hitching their horse to the buggy, drove to town for some purpose. On the way in Mrs. Farmer noticed what seemed to be a rattling noise on the buggy top and remarked that she thought it must be sleeting. The rattling continued, yet no sleet could be seen. When they arrived in town and got out of the buggy it was daylight and the lady looked toward the buggy top and gasped. "Why, Charlie, there is my fine white rooster!" He had ridden all the way to town on top of the buggy. —Floppingsburg Gazette.

The Cincinnati Enquirer's Kentucky political correspondent says:

A close friend of Representative J. Campbell Cantrell, of Georgetown, said last week: "You will find that Cantrell will go back to Congress from the Seventh district and, if I am not badly mistaken, you will find him in the race next year for the Democratic nomination for Governor. He has been threatened with political disaffection by the suffragettes, but then you will find, will not deter him from carrying out his plans."

Irvin Stearns is turned down for the Nicholasville postoffice, it will be the last straw on the newspaper fraternity's back. The Kentucky editors have done more hard work boosting up politicians than the politicians have done for themselves. Yet, very few editors are even thanked. The party was in honor of Mrs. Julian Tyng and Miss Martha Burke. Besides the guests of honor were: Misses Mary D. Pickles, Jamie Caperton, Sara Quisenberry, Katherine White, Tommie Cole Covington and Jane D. Stockton.

The spelling match between Mr. R. E. Turley's Sunday school class and the Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church on Thursday evening in the assembly room of the church, resulted in a tie. Prof. J. B. Harris was "teacher and referee," and when the last five of the spellers sat down on the one word, Prof. Harris pronounced the match a tie much to the gratification of the ladies.

Mr. Joe Boggs, of Richmond, was in Lancaster last week, a witness in the Paint Lick damage case against the L. & N. R. Co.—The venerable C. K. Marshall, of Richmond, will fill the pulpit at the Christian church next Sunday morning and evening. Elder C. K. Marshall was the pastor of the Lancaster membership years ago and is very appreciably remembered by the older communicants.—Lancaster Record.

The last number on the Redpath Music Course at the Normal Chapel, was the recital of Miss Frances Ingram on Wednesday evening. Miss Ingram's rich contralto voice in many beautiful selections, delighted the large audience. The program was made up of groups of German, French, English and American songs, each of which were sung with unusual grace and charm, and the performance was one of the most enjoyable heard in Richmond this winter.

Special Prices on Ladies' Skirts this week at B. E. Belue & Co's. 32-11.

At Methodist Church Sunday.

Subjects for sermon at the Methodist church Sunday, 29th inst. are as follows:

Morning service, 10:15.—"The Searching Question, or the Probing of Existing Conditions." Text: "Wouldst thou be Whole?"—John 5:6. This sermon follows closely the one of last Sunday morning.

Evening service, 7:30.—"The Fourfold Picture of Jesus Christ." Texts: Ezek. 1-10; Rev. 4-7. A cordial welcome; good music. A brief but intense hour of worship. "Come thou with us, we will do thee good!"

H. C. Horton, Pastor.

Flames Destroyed Sermons.

The burning of the Presbyterian parsonage at Harrodsburg, last Thursday, occasioned a great loss to Rev. J. G. Hunter, the pastor, emeritus, who upon leaving the parsonage left his household belongings and library. The most irreparable loss to both the pastors, Drs. McLeod and Hunter, was the destruction of their sermons in manuscript, as forty years of sermons by Dr. Hunter and all of Dr. McLeod's were consumed.

ROUND HILL.

Mr. Clay Ross has purchased a new automobile.

Miss Alberta Moberly, of Cottonburg, spent Saturday and Sunday with her cousin, Miss Elsie Whittaker.

Mr. John Turner has purchased a new player piano.

Miss Sylvia Grimes, Cordie and Mary Shearer and Mr. Carter Blakeman spent Wednesday night with Miss Ruth Long.

Miss Anna B. Scrivner, of Cottonburg, has returned to her home from Midway on account of sickness.

Mr. Elijah Simpson has been on the sick list for the past week.

There will be a pie supper and fish pond at the Kirkville High School, Saturday night, March 28. Everybody cordially invited.

Mrs. Thurey Bishop has returned home after a visit of several weeks with relatives at Elenton.

Miss Estelle Previtt is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hood Baker, at Richmond.

Miss Etabelle Land entertained a few friends at her home Monday night with a masquerade party.

We have a new telephone operator at Kirkville now, Miss Nancy Long.

RED HOUSE.

This community was shocked to hear of the death of "Uncle Dan" Williams the past week. Few knew that he was ill. He was buried in the Williams burying-ground, on the Harvey Cobb place.

We are glad to see our neighbor, Mr. John Christopher, out, after a siege of smallpox. Mr. Christopher has been very considerate of the public welfare, staying strictly in his home during his illness.

Mr. and Mrs. George Noland spent the day in Richmond Saturday.

Mrs. Robert Griggs and Miss Elizabeth Marshall were in Richmond Saturday, shopping.

Our friend, Horace Dozier, spent Saturday afternoon in the city. Business is too rushing for him to take more than a half holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dozier were in Richmond Saturday.

Mrs. W. A. Wells, who has been quite ill, is reported some better.

Preaching at the Baptist church on Sunday last.

Mr. Shelby Jiggersfair seems to be very fond of Richmond, as he spends his Sundays there.

Farmers are behind with their tobacco beds and are going early and late and wishing that spring might soon open up properly.

Mr. J. Tevis Cobb continues to improve. He has been out during the past week.

PAINT LICK.

Grant Kirby, who was injured by the falling of a tree, died a few days ago and leaves a wife and four children to mourn his loss.

Charlie Todd, one of our worthy farmers, was driving down the Lowell hill and his harness broke, causing the horse to run away. He and two of his children were thrown from the buggy, breaking his leg and badly bruising the children. At this time all are getting along as well as could be expected.

Will Todd, of Herea, who is the boss hog raiser of Madison county, sold 300 head to Wilson Brandenburg at $8.25 per hundred.

E. L. Hetrick & Son have bought the stock of merchandise of Fish & Ham mack.

The consolidated school at this place was closed for two weeks on account of scarlet fever.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wallace have the sympathy of the entire community in the loss of their daughter, Fannie. It was very sad and painful to them, as none of their neighbors and very few relatives could assist and comfort them in that dark hour.

Misses Mary and Alma Lear have returned from Frankfort.

Mr. W. A. Hammonds, city attorney of this place, died at his home at 114 Putnam, last Wednesday, after a short illness of pneumonia. Mr. Hammonds was a member of the Christian church and a prominent Mason. The Masons had charge of the funeral and the remains were laid to rest beside those of his wife and four children in Seaford Cemetery. Deceased was a splendid gentleman and leaves a large circle of friends who deeply deplore his death.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunn Jackson are the proud parents of a fine son born on Saturday, and christened Joe Burnam.

Mr. J. W. Stephens has purchased an automobile.

Mrs. E. M. Spence left Friday for an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. H. C. Brewer, at Richmond.

Mr. J. E. Dalton has sold his house and lot to Berea College for $2,800.

Mrs. Leonard Spence spent a few days last week with her father, Mr. J. A. Adams, at Hickory Plains.

Beckham at Winchester.

Hon. J. C. W. Beckham delivered an address at Winchester on Monday afternoon to a large crowd, many ladies being present. He was introduced in an eloquent speech by Hon. R. D. Hunter, former Representative from Clark county.

Mr. Beckham made a calm and dignified speech, having nothing bitter in its tone, though some of his thrusts at Mr. Stanley aroused liberal applause. It is said that he is expected to address the people of Madison some time during the campaign.

Examining a Young Lady.

It is told of the late Judge Tappan, of Ohio, that when he was called to the judges of the Supreme Court, he was asked the following question: "What is the greatest sin?"

Answer—"An unjust decision."

"Mr. Tappan, what is the next greatest sin?"

Answer—"A bad impression of common sense."

No other question was asked, and was given a certificate of admission.

Overland Model 79

THE 1914 OVERLAND

Too many people are fooled or misled by taking bare automobile prices as a positive indication of the intrinsic value of a car. This is exactly the wrong way to go about it. Because one article is priced higher than another it does not follow that that article has a greater value.

As a matter of fact there are many number of $1200 cars which are not, in value, the equal of the $950 Overland.

But how are we to know this?—you ask.

For instance: The 1914 Overland has a wheel base of 114 inches.

The wheel base of the average $1200 car is no longer than this—often shorter. So in this respect you get more for $950 than you do for $1200.

The $950 Overland has a powerful 33 horsepower motor.

No $1200 car has a larger motor than this. Here is equal value and, in most cases, more value for less money.

The $950 Overland has a five bearing crankshaft. The average car has only a three bearing crankshaft and some only two.

We have several new Overlands on hand and can make immediate delivery

And so on throughout the car. Point for point—specification for specification, the $950 Overland is, in every essential respect, the equal of any $1200 car on the market.

So we warn you. Ignore the prices. Compare the actual facts first. Then compare the facts with the prices and you get the intrinsic value.

You will not be harassed, but the many advantages will be explained to you if you will notify

50 CENTS ANY DRUG STORE

BLEACHED FLOUR.

[Lexington Herald.]

We have withheld comment on the decision by the Supreme Court of the United States which sent the bleached flour case back for re-trial, until opportunity to read the decision in full. The decision was heralded throughout the country as a blow to the pure food law and as a victory for the owners of the bleaching patent and the millers who use it. An examination of the opinion shows that the Court disagreed with the trial judge who held that the Act prohibits the addition of any and all injurious substances to the goods regardless of the amount. The decision of the Supreme Court is to the effect that it is for juries to determine, upon the evidence submitted, as to whether the added poison will render the article injurious to health. It has been impossible for the physiological chemists of the country to agree. It has been, so far, impossible for the courts to come to any agreement as to the application of the law. If such questions are to be finally determined by the juries, the Federal and State departments should issue a regulation requiring flour to be plainly labeled showing when it is bleached, the substance with which it has been bleached, and give all consumers opportunity to be their own jury-men.

Whatever uncertainty in the law or differences between the experts, there can be no honest reason why consumers should not be told when flour is bleached.

Six years ago, Dr. Wiley, as a result of investigations made by several of the State pure food departments and the experts in his own bureau, and after inquiry throughout the milling trade, came to the conclusion that artificial bleaching, with nitrous acid gas and similar chemicals, was detrimental to both the food value of the flour and to health. After six years of delay, the Supreme Court of the United States decides that the national pure law was so drafted by Congress as to require that if nitrous acid or other poisonous substances are put into a food product, it is necessary to show actual injury to health before the added poison can be prohibited.

It is impossible, of course, to show such immediate injury. The little bit of formaldehyde in the milk, boric acid in the meat, butter, or cream, the benzoate of soda in fruits and vegetables, the fluorides, salicylic acids, sulphites, known in medicine and pharmacy to be deleterious in effect, do not cause stomach ache or similarly acute conditions all at once, but may, like the little drops of water, keep on wearing, wearing, until the most rugged constitution is affected. And, as the biscuit, the sausage, the pint of milk, the spoonful of catsup or the spread of jelly must each be brought before the court for consideration, it is impossible for any one to know, or prove, just what the effect is, with strong assumption that there is little or no effect unless too many biscuits or too many links of sausage, covering a lot of period of years, are eaten, all of which, however, are held to be immaterial as far as a particular biscuit or a particular link of sausage are concerned under the law. The one biscuit is immaterial from the standpoint of health.

The owners of the bleaching patents, and some of the millers, have hailed the decision with great joy. No invention of recent years has contributed so much advantage and profit to the milling industry as artificial bleaching. The miller has been troubled with damp wheat, inferior wheats, and red Western wheats, and the competition for whiteness has been acute. Furthermore, flour spoils after it comes from the mill. The bleaching process was a remedy for all these evils, and, in addition, enabled the miller to produce a larger percentage of patent, whiter flour, and sell for higher prices. When Dr. Wiley took up the question, therefore, the milling art was rapidly becoming a matter of the most skillful in the use of the bleaching gas. Dr. Ladd, of North Dakota, made many experiments, coming to the conclusion that bleaching injured the baking quality of the flour and was otherwise questionable. His experiments were confirmed by Drs. Winton and Mitchell, working in the Federal laboratories. Dr. Shepherd, State Analyst of South Dakota, investigated and reported that the bleaching retarded digestion. Secretary Wilson gave the millers and the owners of the bleaching patents a hearing in Washington, and he, with Dr. Dunlap and Mr. McCabe, agreed with Dr. Wiley that bleaching should be prohibited. With this authority Dr. Wiley went to work to enforce the law. Seizures were made in the Federal courts. Certain cases were selected for trial, and, in each instance, with experts for both sides, the millers, and the soul of the case before the court, both the judge and the juries decided that bleaching should be prohibited. The question was taken to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals which held, in substance, that the law was too weak to warrant the prohibition of bleaching. This opinion was taken to the Supreme Court of the United States and sustained. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals decided:

"There was evidence that bleached flour did not improve with age in the manner characteristic of unbleached flour, nor did it, as the claimant contended, suddenly take on the condition of properly aged flour which had not been subjected to the bleaching process. That in dough made from bleached flour the gluten never attained the toughness found in dough from unbleached and properly aged flour, and that this toughness was a valuable property in the making of bread. In other words, that as an ultimate result of the mixing of the flour with nitrogen peroxide gas the bread making quality had been injuriously affected. We are not concerned with the opposing testimony. It was for the jury to determine the fact and the court did not err in refusing to peremptorily instruct for the claimant so far as the claim of adulteration was based on the first subdivision before quoted."

Because of such reason, the Federal and State departments will find sufficient law to require bleached flour to be so labeled, and will undoubtedly issue such a regulation at an early date. During the "law's delay," pending a decision by the Supreme Court, the bleaching has gone on, except in a few states like North Dakota and Kentucky, and with no means by which consumers can exercise their preference between the bleached and the unbleached product. Let the plain label tell the facts. Plain labeling will give pure flour an opportunity to compete in the market that will greatly handicap those who continue to bleach. Already one of the largest mills of the country is advertising that its flour is not bleached or whitened chemically, nor adulterated in any way whatever. Its color is a rich, creamy white, not a dead, artificial white." Such flour is going to be preferred by consumers, and the milling concern in a position to so advertise and to keep faith with the public will get the business.

Getting Ready For Annual Parade.

The feminine sex of Richmond are all agog about the millinery openings, which are in full blast this week. Many new spring hats are being worn, even this early, but the usual display and annual parade of the latest headgear will not take place before Easter Sunday, which occurs earlier this season than for many years.

Bright Outlook For Spring Business.

That Richmond merchants are getting ready to break all past records with spring business is evident from the fact that there has never been brought to this city more elaborate stocks of goods for the season's trade than are now on display in the various storerooms. Every article to be desired can be found here, each firm having the very latest styles and fashions in their particular lines, so there is absolutely no need for anyone to go to other cities to satisfy the most exacting tastes. Not only will you find the best of everything the market affords in Richmond, but you will discover on comparison that prices here for the same goods are much lower than in other cities. Take the advice of the Climax and leave your money at home; trade with home merchants and thereby assist in the upbuilding of your home town.

Serious Catarrh Yields To Hyomei

YOU BREATHE IT

Be wise in time and use Hyomei at the first symptom of catarrh, such as frequent head colds, constant sniffing, raising of mucus, or droppings in the throat. Do not let the disease become deep-seated, for you are in danger of a serious if not fatal ailment.

There is no other treatment for catarrh, head colds, etc., like the Hyomei menthol, none just as good, so easy and pleasant to use, or that gives such quick, pure, and lasting relief. You breathe it—no stomach dosing. B. L. Middleton will refund your money if you are not benefited.

Try Hyomei at once and see how quickly it clears the head, stops the sniffing, and banishes catarrh. All druggists sell it. Ask for the complete outfit—$1.00.

Neuritis Follows Crippled Nerves

Painful Effects of Chronic Rheumatism Quickly Routed By Rheuma

If your nerves are all crippled from attacks of Rheumatism, Neuritis can easily get a strong hold on the nerves. This most painful disease is one of the hardest known to expel, but RHEUMA can reach it if given a chance. This testimony is positive proof:

"Last March I was so crippled with Neuritis in my left limb I could walk scarcely at all. Tried all remedies I heard of and had two physicians. Nothing did me any good until I used RHEUMA. Also used ENGLISH MARHUE and NERVALINE—$2.00 worth of your medicines surely cured me." Mrs. C. E. Hayes, Russell, Ky.

Forced Oath of Allegiance No Bar to State Aid.

A sharpish was precipitated in the Senate proceeding concurrence in the House amendment to the Glenn bill, creating a bureau of Confederate pensions and increasing the salary of Capt. W. J. Stone, Pension Commissioner, from $1,200 to $2,500 a year, and providing for one clerk at $1,200 a year and a stenographer at $900 a year. The House tacked on an amendment to the Senate bill a provision making eligible to pensions soldiers of the Confederacy who, during the last six months of the Civil War, under duress were forced to take the oath of allegiance to the United States, which proposition as a separate bill had been previously defeated in the House.

A Pig

I always like a pig.
 His appetite is big.
 But he isn't like a chicken with its dig, dig, dig.
 And he isn't like some men
 Who are happy only when
 They have grabbed the choicest morsel
 In the other fellows pen.

A pig's not over neat.
 And his food's not always sweet.
 And his highest aspiration is to eat, eat, eat.
 He's the synonym for greed,
 But unlike the human breed,
 He doesn't keep on piling up a lot he doesn't need.

Now a hen will scratch around
 Over forty leagues of ground,
 And holler, "Come look at what I've found, found, found."
 And a man is much the same
 With his thirst for empty fame,
 But a pig just fills his stomach, caring
 Naught for praise or blame.

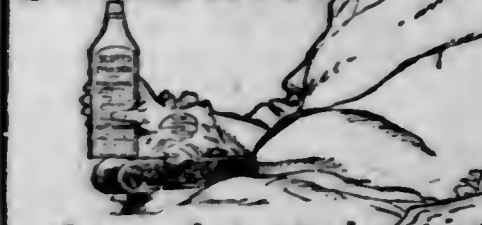

Making an imposing front,
 Is the human's favorite stunt,
 While a pig dismisses pretense with a grunt, grunt, grunt.
 No, his figure isn't trim,
 His mentality's not big,
 And he's apt to be untidy—still, I always like a pig.

Lay Aside Your Gun.

The countless cowards who carry pistols had better prepare to lay aside their tre arms and make ready to fight with their bare fists. A drastic bill making the carrying of concealed weapons punishable by fine, imprisonment and disfranchisement for the first offense and making the second offense a felony, was passed by the lower house of the Kentucky General Assembly and is ready to go to the Governor. —Danville Messenger.

AFTER SICKNESS OR OPERATION

It is a pathetic mistake to accept drugs or alcoholic mixtures when nature craves nourishment to repair the wasted body and restore the vigor of health.

For forty years the best physicians have relied on the wholesome predigestion nourishment in Scott's Emulsion which is totally free from alcohol or opiates.

Scott's Emulsion sharpens the appetite—renews blood—nourishes nerves—strengthens bones and restores the courage of health to make life bright.

Scott's Emulsion sets in action the very forces that promote health; it is pure, rich strength.

MODELS POPULAR IN FRANCE

Chilo's Frocks That May Easily Be Reproduced in Almost Any Material Desired.

On the left of the accompanying cut is a dainty little French frock, with a plaid skirt, a black velvet bodice and a tulle guimpe. It could easily be reproduced at home in plaid and plain blue serge—the skirt of the plaid in dark blue, green and a little red—the bodice of the plain blue serge. The guimpe could be made of mull.

The puffs in the sleeves can be effected by means of tapes, run through casings in an ordinary full guimpe sleeve, pulled up and tied on the wrong side. When the guimpe goes to the laundry, the tapes can be removed.

Off the right is a frock of blue and white taffeta. A band of white taffeta, embroidered with blue, is used about the bottom of the skirt and the same embroidery is used on the waist. The frock could be reproduced in yellow or blue or pink, and white linen with fine edging, embroidered in color, for trimming.

FANCY BASKETS IN VARIETY

Almost No End to the Ornamental Designs From Which Selection May Be Made.

Now that nearly every useful household article—not intimately associated with the kitchen—is expected to also be ornamental, fancy baskets are very much to the fore. For holding flower pots there are most artistic looking receptacles of dark rattan, Japanese woven, and tin-lined so that water shall not seep through. Flower pots also fit into many of the palatial, brilliantly dyed Northwestern Indian baskets, as well as the queerly decorated and oddly-shaped ones made by the Mexicans and the Alaskans. Some of the baskets from the far North are ideal for "scraper" holders, and others, flat at two sides and rounding at the ends, may be suspended from the wall and used as newspaper racks. Of work baskets in queer weaves and attractive colors there is an endless variety, but the best are bowl-shaped, very capacious and always perfectly balanced on flat bottoms. So bright are their colorings that to trim them is like carrying coals to Newcastle, but it is a good scheme to line them with soft plain silk. Comparatively few of the less expensive Indian baskets have lids, but one may easily be made by covering a pasteboard circle with plain silk and attaching it by a single hinge of ribbon.

WHITE SILK FOR THE BABY

Exquisite Little Coats, With Deep Peterline Capes, Make Comfortable and Dainty Garments.

White faille silk is the favored material for coats for babies, and these are usually adorned with a deep peterline cape, which may be edged with baby Irish lace or finished by hand-embroidered scallops. Sprays of rather custard-looking flowers are often seen down the front of these coats and trim the collar and cuffs. The hats designed to accompany them are fashioned generally after the Charlotte Corday or poke bonnet styles, the trimming, of course, depending upon the color combinations used on both dress and coat.

For simple every-day wear the plainest dress, and the more easily it can be laundered the more practical it will be. A dainty little dress which can easily be made of lawn or batiste has the short kimono sleeves usually to be found in garments of this character. The neck opening, nicely rounded, extends over rather far on the shoulders, thus assuring the little one of reasonable comfort in the warm days of summer. A hem and sleeve finishing of bands of batiste of a different color—mostly blue or pink—are the only concessions in the way of trimming that are made.

Homemade Buckle.
 The quaint sleeveless effect of some of the new corsets, which draws the material to the summit of the shoulders in classical draperies, makes a buckle necessary.

In some cases these buckles are composed of precious stones, gold or silver filigree work, or they may be mounted on cameo.

Here we have an equally effective, although much less expensive, buckle. Purchase five-eighths of a yard of diamond trimming. Cut out your buckle from stiff buckram. Then sew on your trimming in rows close together.

NEED COOKS IN AUSTRALIA

Scarcity of Household Help Has Become a Serious Problem in Island Continent.

The long-cherished theory that the world's surplus feminine population could be married off if it could be persuaded to migrate to the antipodes is not borne out in a report of the Dominion's royal commission upon the demand for women in Australia. Women are wanted badly in the great island continent, but not so much for marriage as for domestic servants.

So great is the demand, according to the report, that many of the girls sailing from England have been engaged by wireless as cooks and servants in Australian households before their steamer reached port. In some cases, men have been so hard up for cooks that they have gone out in tugs to meet incoming vessels to make sure that they have the first pick of girls seeking employment. The first few days following the landing of the immigrants resemble an old hiring fair. The employers besiege the labor bureau in hundreds, and in a short time every newcomer desiring domestic work is pretty certain to have secured a situation at wages more than double the sum which she could command in England.

The commission learned of complaints that the scarcity of servants in Australia involves such a burden on housewives that it was affecting seriously their health, and even acting as a check upon the much desired increase of the population.

COSTLY LACK OF KNOWLEDGE

Phrenologist Probably All Right in His Profession, but He Didn't Know Much About Horses.

A Boston man tells of an innocent farmer who once sought out a phrenologist at the Hub and asked that his "bumps" be read.

In revealing to the farmer his temperament as shown by the aforesaid bumps, the professor said:

"Your tastes are the simple, homely ones of the farmer. You are a farmer, are you not? Ah! I thought so! And I am right as to your tastes, am I not? You are sadly deficient in judgment, and have little knowledge of human nature. Your innocent and trustful disposition renders you an easy dupe to designing men, and your own perfect honesty prevents you from either suspecting or defrauding anyone."

The following week, it appears, the phrenologist bought a horse from the innocent farmer. Although the nag was old and in bad condition, it had been made to appear young and healthy. Moreover, though the farmer had paid but $15 for the animal, he contrived without difficulty to unload him on the professor for $40.

"It's wonderful," said the farmer to a friend, as he proceeded to a bank to deposit his money. "It's wonderful that a man should know so much about men and not a thing about horses."

Triple Entente Strong.

M. Delcasse, who has just ceased to be French ambassador to St. Petersburg, in conversation with a correspondent of the Paris Journal, who traveled with him in the train on his return from Russia, declared that he was more persuaded than ever of the necessity and efficacy of an increasingly intimate understanding between France, Russia and Great Britain. If that triple entente did not already exist it would be necessary more than ever to have invented it. Between London, St. Petersburg and Paris there was a close solidarity of superior interests which the triple entente, in respecting the aspirations of each of its members, had the means of safeguarding. "We are strong, and even stronger, perhaps, than we generally think," declared M. Delcasse.

British Royal Academy.

The latest addition to membership in the British Royal academy is Reginald T. Blomfield, architect. The new R. A. is the son of the late rector of Aldington, Kent, and is fifty-seven years of age. In 1911 he was president of the Royal Institute of British Architects. His principal works are domestic architecture and garden designs. He is the author of several works on architecture. G. A. Storey, A. R. A., has been appointed to the professorship of perspective at the academy, which has been revived after having been allowed to lapse half a century ago. Turner was elected to the professorship in 1808.

French Temperance Society.

An organization for the promotion of temperance in France has been founded by M. Schmidt, deputy for the department of the Vosges. A feature of the new body is its catholicity. It includes every shade of political and religious belief, and all classes of society—politicians, professional men and workmen. A meeting, addressed by doctors, lawyers and a deputy, has just been held in Bordeaux. The new association, which is called "L'Alarme," justifies its name by calling attention to the rising flood of alcoholism in France.

Nine Dumb Heroes.

There are 4,500 dogs of proud pedigree on exhibition at the London dog show, many of them worth thousands of dollars, but none of the aristocrats attracts as much attention as nine hero dogs, shown on a separate bench. Each of the nine has saved human life, and above the stall of each is set forth a brief record of his service to mankind.

FOR THE GRIP

Peruna Is Sometimes Used With Good Results

A great many people use Peruna for the grip. Some use it as soon as the grip begins, taking it during the acute stage of the disease, claiming for it great efficacy in shortening the disease, and especially in shortening the after stages.

Many people take it after they have and the grip. Their convalescence is slow. They have suffered along for a month or two, without any signs of complete recovery. Then they resort to Peruna as a tonic, with splendid results.

Mrs. Jane Gift, R. F. D. 1, Athens, Ohio, whose portrait appears above, writes: "I think I would have been dead long ago if it had not been for Peruna. Six years ago I had a grippe very bad. The doctor came to see me every day, but I gradually grew worse. I told my husband I thought I would surely die if I did not get relief soon."

"One day I picked up the newspaper and accidentally found a testimonial of a woman who had been cured of grip by Peruna. I told my husband I wanted to try it. He went directly to the drug store and got a bottle of Peruna. I could see the improvement in a very short time and was soon able to do my work. I continued using it until I was entirely cured."

Mr. Victor Patenaude, 228 Madison St., Toledo, Kas., writes: "Twelve years ago I had a severe attack of grippe and I never really recovered my health and strength, but grew weaker every year, until I was unable to work."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

He Didn't Wait.

The aggressive visitor pushed his way past the red-haired office boy—why are all office boys in fiction red-headed?—bumped the editor's door open and planted himself in the middle of the floor.

The sub-editor looked up from his desk.

"Say," demanded the visitor, "where is the guy that turns down good poetry?"

"Did you send in some good poetry?" inquired the sub-editor, mildly.

"I sure did, and some boob mailed it back to me, postage collect!"

"Well," said the mild sub-editor, drawing a pad of paper to him and picking up a pencil, "the boob that did that little trick is in the washroom washing the blood off his hands from the last murder he committed about 15 minutes ago. He had to ham the life out of a noisy poet who came up here and wanted to know why he didn't return his poetry more promptly. Will you not wait?" But the angry visitor had faded gently through the door and was hitting the pavement at third speed.

 Oft-times crippling child and wife,
 That parasites may grow and thrive,
 Drawing their 'blood from other's lives?

Ait Bit of Counsel.

I love young girls, you know I do. It is a trick I had of old and it grew upon me with the passing years, but loving them as I do, I want to see them helpful and lovable and sweet. I want to see them slow to wound another's feelings and quick as sunshine after rain with sympathy and tender, womanly ways. I want to see them brave, yet gentle; gay, yet kind; modest, yet self-reliant; fun-loving, yet never loud and rude. I want to hear the young men, in speaking of them from time to time, as they sit near me on the train, speak of something beside their extravagance and their desire for show. I want the world to be sweeter for their tarrying in it, as a room is sweeter that holds a blooming flower.

And what should make you sweet, dear girl? Not fashionable gowns, nor dainty clothing; not beauty alone, nor grace, nor wealth so much as usefulness and constant thought of others. Don't grow to think too much of what the world would say about you; think more of the real than my seeming, and don't let the lily of innocence wither in your hand. Don't be a flirt! It is better to be a little bit old-fashioned than to know too much of the ways of the world. Don't be over-cautious; it is better for a young girl to be outspoken and quick to voice her mind than to be polite and guileful and hard to catch napping.—Amber.

Makes Healthy Bowels

THIS simple rule of health is daily called attention to by every doctor in the land, whose first question to the patient almost invariably is, "Are your bowels regular?" Yet there's not one person in fifty who takes proper care of the bowels. And the result of this foolish neglect is nine-tenths of all ill-health. If today you are unable to free your body of waste matter at the usual time, or if the act causes straining, pains and discomfort, don't let that condition occur again tomorrow. Unless your bowels can carry away the waste materials left after food is digested, decay sets in, the poisons of which, taken up by the blood, increase the risk of Typhoid Fever, Appendicitis, and many other serious diseases.

In treating constipation, there is a right way and a wrong way. The wrong way is to take harsh purgatives which even though they do clear the bowels, cause griping and nausea, injure the delicate tissues, and so disturb the normal functions as to cause the return of constipation. The right way is to help Nature to produce natural movement, without pain or discomfort, by using

Rexall Orderlies

More Than One Hundred Million Were Sold Last Year

This enormous quantity was used with good results by busy men who suffered from constipation, due to lack of exercise, or indigestion caused by overwork—by children whose parents realize the harmful effect of common purgatives—by old people whose systems cannot stand anything harsh—by women during pregnancy, and after childbirth, when any medicine with a violent action would be particularly dangerous. Many of these people are your neighbors and friends. Ask anyone who has ever used them—they'll tell you Rexall Orderlies satisfied and helped them.

—a gentle laxative in the form of a chocolate-tasting tablet. One of these tablets eaten just before going to bed will help to restore your bowels to normal activity at a time when your body being at rest, the medicine can do its best work. As a result of taking that tablet (or say two, if your case is obstinate), your bowels will move easily and naturally in the morning. The use of Rexall Orderlies for a few days afterward will restore normal regularity. Even chronic constipation is benefited by them, and it is not necessary to continue the treatment for a long time, because, instead of driving Nature, they simply help her to help herself.

Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores and in this town only by us. In vest pocket tin boxes, 10c, 25c, 50c.

This Is Our Guarantee—You Risk No Money

If Rexall Orderlies do not make your bowels act right, tell us so and we'll give back your money without asking a single question. There is no red tape to this guarantee. It means just what it says. You sign nothing. We won't hesitate, or ask you any questions. Your word is enough. If Rexall Orderlies do not do all you expect them to—if you don't feel better after using them and find that they are the pleasantest-acting and best laxative you have ever used, we want you to tell us and get your money back.

CHEATING OLD DEATH OUT OF HIS HARVEST

The Secret of The World-wide War Against The Drink Habit.

When Emperor William came out boldly as the foe of drink, the Old World rubbed its eyes in astonishment. It wasn't many months until Russia officially opened fire on liquor. The reasons may be seen in a recent findings of a commission appointed by the German Government, which reported that 43 per cent of the children of excessive drinkers die within a few months of their birth and those who live 10 per cent are epileptic, 8 per cent epileptic, 8 per cent dwarfs and only 17 per cent normally intelligent.

This is the harvest of drink, which the Neal Institute will prevent. The Australian Government stole a march on civilization when Dr. Neal's simple vegetable remedy was officially indorsed and the plan of saving, rather than punishing, drunkards was inaugurated.

Cincinnati has one of over three score Neal Institutes found in the United States, Canada and Australia. The old homestead of Captain C. M. Holloway is occupied. Victims of drink are tenderly cured for there. They are treated like guests and given every medical attention needed by those whose systems are saturated with alcoholic poison. The Neal Treatment knocks out all this poison in three days. It means longer life, better health, greater efficiency, more happiness and increased earning power, just to take the Neal Treatment.

Investigate or ask your own physician, in whom you have all confidence, to do this for you. There is absolutely no publicity. For booklet, write The Neal Institute, 691 Maple Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio. Telephone Avon 4020. Other Ohio Neal Institutes at Columbus and Cleveland.

HIS SPECIALTY WAS WOMEN

One Man Tells His Bachelor Friend of His Extensive Experience With the Fair Sex.

Two friends started out in life, each of them resolved to pursue his own ideal, says the Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

And one of them went out to see the world, and the other became a hermit.

And the hermit said: "There is only one thing that I am curious about—women. Have you met any?" "Have I met any?" exclaimed the other, smiling. "Why, women have been my specialty."

"Are they vain?" "Very."

"Are they inquisitive?" "Dear me, yes."

"It is true they talk continuously?" "Oh, yes."

"Are they extravagant?" "Yes, enough to suit any taste."

"Have they any good points?" "Well, I should say they have."

"What are they?" "Indeed!"

"And they save if they love enough."

"How interesting."

"And they are good nurses. In fact, they differ widely in their capabilities. They are constant and inconstant, fickle and true, small and large, charitable, good, bad and indifferent."

The hermit grasped his companion's hand eagerly.

"My friend," he said, "this is all very wonderful to me—your knowledge of women is evidently extensive. And now tell me, how many of them have you really known?"

And the friend replied: "One."

MME. MERRI'S ADVICE

SUGGESTIONS FOR DELIGHTFUL APRIL FIRST LUNCHEON.

All Sorts of Fun and Frolic Should Mark the Occasion—Centerpiece and Menu That Will Be Appropriate for the Day.

"What Fools These Mortals Be." So the wise Puck said years ago, and, for one, am glad that the first of April is near at hand with its frolic, fun and proverbial "showers" with the promise of "May flowers." Shakespeare says in "As You Like It":

"I had rather have a fool to make me merry than experience to make me sad." And I am going to tell you about this merry April luncheon that was given "once upon a time." The menu would do for a dinner party of congenial friends, for I think it so much nicer to include the men in our merry-making just as often as we can. This is an occasion to remember "That a little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men."

Beginning with the table, have this for a centerpiece: Take a glass flower bowl or basket or brass bowl, in fact any receptacle one would use for a floral centerpiece, and have a wire top made to hold sticks of candy; tie on top of the sticks bits of candy done up in frills of tissue paper, or wire them on with the lengths of fine wire to be purchased at a florist's. Green, pink, lavender and blue make a fetching bouquet to be placed at the end of the meal instead of the usual plate of bonbons. The following menu is excellent, and though every hostess may substitute and change to suit her own ideas, it gives you something to build on:

Mock Oysters, Lobster Soup, Mock Turtle Soup, Finger Rolls, French Peas, Finger Rolls, Tulips and Chips, Bird's Nest Salad.

Mock Watermelon, Sponges, Coffee. The mock oysters are made after a rule to be found in every cook book under the head of "corn oysters." Make them small, as much the shape of oysters as possible, butter and serve very hot, five on a plate, arranged like raw oysters. If you can get oyster shells to serve them of and use real oyster plates, so much the better. Serve with oyster forks. For the "chops" mold lobster croquette mixture in shape of lamb chops, using an uncooked bit of macaroni for the bone, to which attach a regular chop frill of paper which the butcher will supply. To make the tulips, use large red peppers, cutting the top edge to look like a tulip; fill with creamed potatoes, placing a circle of hot potato chips around the edge of plate or ramekin saucer. The salad is simply shredded lettuce or endive with eggs of creamed cheese. The dessert is the piece de resistance and is not difficult, provided one takes plenty of time and does not get worried. The first requisite is a melon-shaped mold which most housekeepers have nowadays. Line it with green ice cream and then fill with pink ice cream in which large, fat raisins have been placed in circles. Pack in ice and salt and let it stand three or four hours. Serve whole on a platter and cut in slices like one serves watermelon. It is perfectly lovely and the "sponges" are individual sponge drops made from a reliable sponge cake rule and dropped from the spoon, so they bake in irregular shapes.

Jester dolls on wands with bells on the ribbon ends should be at each place, the name card attached, bearing this quotation from "Hamlet":

"They fool me to the top of my bent." MME. MERRI.

ONE OF THE LATEST

Wild Deer Beg Food. Starving and exhausted chamois, stags and roe deer (chevreuils) are descending from their mountain fastnesses in the Canton of Grisons and the Swiss Tyrolean frontier Alps into the villages, practically begging for food and with all fear lost.

On these mountains the snow lies six feet deep and the cold has been intense. Even above Arosa and Klosters famished deer have been found, while near Davos a large stag was discovered in a stable.

In the Praetigau valley eight chamois and twelve deer are now "on pension" in the villages, but a number of the animals have been found dead on the paths and roads. It is forbidden by law to harm these animals in the canton, and when they are restored they will be liberated.

A further fall of black snow is reported from Macolin, near Bienna, while at Wetzikon, Canton of Zurich, gray snow fell.

Martial Law. Martial law, which was proclaimed, lately over the greater part of South Africa, has not been known in England for considerably over a century and has seldom been employed in the empire.

Yet its validity in times of domestic trouble and war is recognized by a clause from the petition of rights inserted in the army act which the British parliament passes every year. Essentially, martial law means that the ordinary law is suspended, because it is too cumbersome and slow, in favor of summary judgment in times of great stress.

The last occasion it was proclaimed in London was the Gordon riots in 1780, and the Jacobite rebellions of 1715 and 1745 brought about the same state of affairs throughout Great Britain.

Not Just What Minister Meant. An English minister, who guarded his morning study hour very carefully, told the new maid under no circumstances were callers to be admitted—except, of course, he added, in case of life and death.

Half an hour later the maid knocked at his door. "A gentleman to see you, sir."

"Why, I thought I told you—" "Yes, I told him," she replied, "but he says it is a question of life and death."

So he went downstairs and found an insurance agent.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system entering through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they do to the system is often permanent, and is not cured by any medicine.

Acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, it is taken internally and acts on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. It is taken internally and acts on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system.

Stomach Health--Or No Cost To You

Very likely others have advised you to use Rexall's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they are the best remedy ever known for Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

It is what we think, too, because we know what they have done for others, what they are made of. We have much faith in them that we urge you to try them at our risk. If they don't cure you, they won't cost you a cent.

They don't do what you want them to do--if they don't restore your stomach to health and make your digestion just tell us and we will give back money without a word or question.

Containing Pepsin and Bismuth, two of the greatest digestive aids known to medical science, they soothe the inflamed stomach lining, help in the secretion of gastric juice, check heartburn and acid, promote regular bowel action, make it possible for you to eat what you like whenever you like, with comforting assurance that there will be no bad after effects. We believe them to be the best remedy made for dyspepsia and indigestion. Sold only at 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town by, $1—H. L. Perry's Drug Store, Richmond, Kentucky.

Garnett May Run.

The Laxing on correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer had the following in his Sunday political letter: "According to a statement made at Frankfort last week by a prominent Democrat from the Eighth Congressional District, a movement is on foot to induce Attorney General James Garnett, of Columbia, who has long been regarded as having memorial aspirations, to enter the race for Congress against Representative Harvey Helm, of Stanford. These friends of General Garnett, it is said, are of the opinion that dissatisfaction over pension matters has made it possible for a strong Democrat to defeat Representative Helm, who is serving his fourth term, and who is regarded as one of the best mixers in his section of the State."

It has been said that Henry Jackson, of Danville, might become a candidate, and Representative Merriweather Smith, of Harrodsburg, has also been spoken of as a possibility, but it is claimed that one of these gentlemen would enter would General Garnett decide to run. H. C. RICE, M. C. N. C. C.

STATE BANK & TRUST COMPANY

PUBLIC SALE

The undersigned as administrators of M. A. Phelps, deceased, and as agents for his heirs at law, will on

Friday, April 3, 1914

Beginning at 10 o'clock A. M.

at the home place of M. A. Phelps, deceased, about 4 miles from Richmond, Ky., on the Jacks Creek pike, offer for public sale, to the highest and best bidder the following property

LANDS

About 300 acres of the best quality of bluegrass land fronting the Jacks Creek and Tates Creek pikes, about four miles from Richmond, same being the home farm of M. A. Phelps, from which is excluded the widow's dower. Said 300 acres will be divided into parcels of from 75 to 100 acres and offered first in parcels and then as a whole, and sold so as to bring the most money. Full information as to the manner of division will be given in our next issue after surveys have been completed.

Also 150 acres of land on the Boonesboro dirt road about two miles from Richmond, and adjoining the lands of George Phelps, Mrs. Jennings and Mrs. McKowan. This tract will be sold in two parcels and then as a whole.

TERMS--The purchaser of any of the above tracts of land will be required to pay one third in cash upon execution of deed, and to execute two notes for one-third each, due in one and two years, bearing 6 per cent interest from date, and secured by lien on land for the balance.

PERSONAL PROPERTY

At the same time and place the administrators will sell to the highest and best bidder the following personal property:

25 nice yearling steers; 100 barrels of corn; 30 hogs weighing from 150 to 175 pounds; 1 jennet, and a half interest in a yearling jack; 5 work mules and 5 mule colts; 3 milch cows and 1 jersey heifer; 5 brood mares; 1 4-year-old bay filly with foal to jack; 1 2-year-old stallion; 1 2-year-old filly. Also a large quantity of farm implements and other tools usually found upon a large well equipped farm.

FOR DELICATE CHILDREN

A Mother's Letter to Mothers.
Mrs. E. W. Cooper of Bloomfield, N. J., says: "My child, seven years old, had a bad cold and was weak and quite run down in health. She had been in this condition for about six weeks when I began giving her Vinol. It was a wonderful help to the child, breaking up her cold quickly and building up her strength beside. I have also found Vinol a most excellent tonic for keeping up the children's strength during a siege of whooping cough."

Vinol is a wonderful combination of two world-famed tonics—the medicinal body building elements of cod liver oil and iron for the blood, therefore it is a perfectly safe medicine for children, because it is not a potent medicine, everything in it is printed on every package, so mothers may know what they are giving their little ones.

Therefore we ask every mother of a weak, sickly or ailing child in this vicinity to try Vinol on our guarantee.

P. S. Our Sazo Salve is truly wonderful for Eczema. We guarantee it.

Word Hunting.

Hunting up a word in the dictionary is often much like the famous "Pursuit of the Shark," in which, after a most exciting chase, discovery was made that the elusive animal was not a shark at all, but a boojum. Now there is the by no means unusual word "rignmarole," which is slandered with the epithet "colloquialism" and is defined to be "a succession of confused or nonsensical statements; foolish talk; nonsense." But that is not the end of it. A line in small type says "See Ragnman's Roll." This brings the information that "ragnman" stands in Pier's Plozman for the devil, this tyrannical roll being the roll of the man of rage, the devil. And Pier's Plozman was not a living man, but a living poem, by William Langley, an English poet, born about 1592. The poem describes a series of nine dreams in certain of which Pier's Plozman appears. The poem exposed the corruptions of the State, of the Church and of existing society. But one may not carry here with Ragnman's roll. Further information is to the effect that it may be corruption for "Bagman's roll," which was said to have been a roll or record made by direction of one Bagimont, a legate from Rome, who, calling before him all the benefited clergy in England and Scotland, caused them, on oath, to give the true value of their benefices according to which they were afterward taxed by the Court of Rome. The taxation by Bagimont is mentioned in old Scottish records. Bagimont roll or record was also used to designate the parchment on which the Scottish nobility and gentry subscribed allegiance in 1296 to Edward I. of England.

A Letter Washington Wrote Over 100 Years Ago.

Mr. William Kerr, mother of the Kerr Brothers, the well known undertaker and horseman, respectively, was exhibiting to her friends an original letter from George Washington, the first President, whose birthday was celebrated in many cities on Feb. 22. The letter was written to the Masonic Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, Dec. 28, 1796.

While Mrs. Kerr is unable to trace the detailed history of the letter, which is in excellent state of preservation, although 118 years old, her grandfather, James Skinner, of Virginia, was a personal friend of Washington, and it is through him and son, Wm. Skinner, who was Mrs. Kerr's father, that the letter has been handed down. Wm. Skinner was four years old when Washington died in 1799, and the letter has been preserved in his old family Bible for the last 100 or more years. The letter is as follows:

December 28, 1796.

Fellow Citizens and Brothers of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania:

I have received your address with all the feelings of brotherly affection, mingled with those sentiments for the Society, which it was calculated to excite.

To have been in any degree an instrument in the hands of providence to promote order and union and erect upon a solid foundation the principles of government, is only to have shared with many others in a labor the result of which, let us hope, will prove through all ages a sanctuary for the brothers and a lodge for the virtues.

Permit me to reciprocate your prayers for my temporal happiness and to supplicate that we may all meet hereafter in that eternal temple whose builder is the great architect of the universe.

Wanted--A Grain of Salt!

This story comes from San Francisco: "For twenty years William Kehler, aged 70, has been a beggar, eating food taken from ash cans and sleeping wherever he could find shelter. Thursday night was cool and the sidewalk on which Kehler had made his bed appeared so uncomfortable to a patrolman that he arrested the old man and took him to a police station so that he might have a comfortable mattress and blankets. In searching him, it was found that what was supposed to be a hump on his back was uncommonly hard, and investigation revealed that it was not a deformity, but a tin box which was packed with gold coin and paper money. Various gold pockets in Kehler's clothes were emptied of additional money. When all was counted, the total was found to be $23,000."

How Money Affects Editors.

Money acts on an editor like a drink of whisky on a negro: pay six months in advance and he will call you the best fellow on earth; pay a year in advance and he will go wild; and if you dared to pay three years in advance, the shocked editor would drop dead at your feet.—Pendletonian.

Saved Girl's Life

"I want to tell you what wonderful benefit I have received from the use of Thedford's Black-Draught," writes Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky.

"It certainly has no equal for la grippe, bad colds, liver and stomach troubles. I firmly believe Black-Draught saved my little girl's life. When she had the measles, they went in on her, but one good dose of Thedford's Black-Draught made them break out, and she has had no more trouble. I shall never be without in my home." For constipation, indigestion, headache, dizziness, malaria, chills and fever, biliousness, and all similar ailments, Thedford's Black-Draught has proved itself a safe, reliable, gentle and valuable remedy.

If you suffer from any of these complaints, try Black-Draught. It is a medicine of known merit. Seventy-five years of splendid success proves its value. Good for young and old. For sale everywhere. Price 25 cents.

The Alhambra

Continues to give the public the very choicest pictures to be obtained, that of Monday being an exceptionally fine offering—"The Lion and the Mouse." Mr. Sparks, the gentlemanly manager, endeavors always to give his patrons the best, and as yet we have heard no complaint.

Parcels Post For Farmers' Products.

Postmaster General Hurlston has amplified the parcel post by the establishment of a "farm products post," which can be utilized by farmers and truckers for the shipment of crates of butter, eggs, vegetables, dressed poultry, etc., weighing between 20 and 50 pounds, directly from the farm to the city kitchen. The service, which was announced by the Postmaster General recently, is provided only for the first and second zones, a distance of approximately 150 miles. Packages under 20 pounds must be securely packed, so that they can be handled in mail sacks with the ordinary mail matter.

Premium Put on Party Regularity.

No one but a dyed-in-the-wool partisan may vote in the Kentucky primary under the amended primary law, enacted by the late General Assembly. The amended act strictly defines the qualification in the law that a voter "must be a member of the party for whose nominee he intends to vote, and shall have affiliated with said party." It says "no person shall be deemed to have affiliated with the party for whose nominee he intends to cast his vote if he voted against the nominee or nominees of such party at the last general election."

The act also does away with the requirements for a certain per centage of electors signing a petition to get the name of a candidate on the primary ballot, and requires only the petition of the candidate, accompanied by the affidavit of two electors as to his eligibility. Where there is only one candidate, the officer with whom the candidate's petition is filed may issue him a certificate of nomination. Unused ballots are required to be stamped and returned to the county clerk.

DEATHS

There is a reaper whose name is Death And with his sickle keen He reaps the bearded grain at a breath And the flowerlets that grow between."

Mr. Sidney Tudor, of Winchester, died on last Wednesday morning. He was afflicted with cancer on his lip. Deceased was a brother of Mr. S. L. Tudor, of Irvine.

Mrs. Wm. Masters, aged 42 years, died at her home on Jolly Ridge Wednesday evening, after a lingering illness of tuberculosis. She is survived by her husband. The burial took place Thursday in the Heathman burying ground.

Mr. R. A. Barlow, of this city, received a telegram Saturday evening announcing the death of his sister, Mrs. Virginia Herrington, at her home in San Francisco, Cal., which occurred at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. Deceased was 63 years of age and is well remembered by the older residents of this city, where she formerly resided. Her remains will be brought to Kentucky for burial.

Mr. Daniel Williams, of Red House, this county, died last Wednesday night at the Pattie A. Clay Infirmary, where he had been seriously ill for two weeks or more. Deceased was a widower, aged 78 years, and is survived by one son, Mr. Merritt Williams, of Silver Creek, now stationed at Tyrone in the revenue service. Mr. Williams was widely known over the county and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. His interment took place Friday afternoon at Red House.

Mrs. L. S. Robbins, formerly Miss Bazzie Hackett, died Saturday evening at the Hackett home on the Boonesboro pike, after an illness of tuberculosis, aged 28 years. Deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tobe Hackett and was married several years ago to Mr. L. S. Robbins, of Mayfield, to which union two beautiful children were born, who, in addition to her husband and father, survive. Mrs. Robbins was a splendid woman and was admired by all who knew her, and her untimely death will bring sorrow to many hearts. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dawson at the residence Monday morning at 11 o'clock, followed by interment in the Richmond Cemetery.

Mr. J. S. Spurlin, aged 58, died at his home in Farmer, Mo., last Thursday, of acute indigestion. Deceased lived in this county for many years before moving to Missouri several years ago to make his home. Besides his wife, he is survived by the following children: Mrs. Frances Pigg, M. E. and G. R. Spurlin, of Red House; V. M. Spurlin, of Minnesota; Mrs. McClellan, Henry and Silas Spurlin, of Iowa, and Mrs. Frances Lampkin, of Montana. The remains were brought here and interred in the Duncan burying ground.

On Wednesday night at 9 o'clock the death angel entered the home of Mr. Joseph T. Jones and claimed as his own the beloved wife and mother, Margaret Letcher Jennings was born in this county on October 7, 1816, being the daughter of Robert and Cynthia Barnes Jennings. On May 11, 1870, she became the wife of Joseph T. Jones, to which union two daughters were given, one, Katie, dying young. Miss Merritt, with her aged father, is left to mourn the loss of a devoted mother.

Mrs. Jones had been in declining health for several years and since the first of December, 1913, has been confined to her bed. For several weeks prior to her death her suffering was almost unbearable, and those who ministered to her knew the grim reaper was hovering near to claim the frail form. The deceased was a devout christian, a life long member of the Presbyterian church. Her whole life was a living example of all that is holy, pure, true and good. She was always loving, kind and considerate of those about her, and her great devotion to her husband and daughter was beautiful indeed. Her life was a benediction to all who came under its influence. Not only in her own family was she loved, but all who knew her were ever ready to sing her praises. The world is better for having known her. The very deepest and tenderest sympathy is extended to her aged and grief stricken husband, who can look back over their long married life as one long, harmonious song, sharing with each other whatever of joy or pain that life held for them. Also to the daughter, who has been left as a legacy the sweet memory of a noble mother, which is far richer than rubies. One brother, Mr. Robt. Jennings, also survives.

The funeral services were conducted Friday at 11 o'clock at the residence near town by Rev. Sanford Logan, of Midway, after which the body was laid to rest in our beautiful city of the dead, where a perfect wilderness of flowers covered the newly-made grave, and from view all that was mortal of the beloved wife, mother, friend and neighbor.

Slight Fracture of Skull.

Last Friday night while loading a wagon with baggage that belonged to a company which had been playing at the opera house, Fred Devore fell from the wagon, sustaining a slight fracture of the skull. He was immediately taken to a hospital, where, upon examination, his condition was pronounced serious. At this time he is doing nicely and is expected to be out soon.

Why Don't You?
A farmer who was carrying an express package from a city mail order house, was accosted by a local merchant: "Why didn't you buy that bill of goods from me? I could have saved you the express and besides you would have been patronizing a home store, which helps pay the taxes and build up this community." With characteristic frankness the farmer asked: "Why don't you patronize your home paper and advertise? I read it and didn't know you had the goods I have here, nor do I ever see your name in the paper inviting one to come to your store."—The Pomotrope.

BRASSFIELD.

We are glad to note the appearance of our friend, Robt. Garrette, on the street, after being confined to his bed for several days with blood poison, caused by a small scratch on his hand. He gives Dr. Coomer credit for pulling him thro'.

And besides there are others who think that the doctor is a great fellow, more especially Marshal Rayburn, who says Dr. C. brought a sweet little girl to his home last Sunday morning and they call the little one Geneva Willoughby.

Mr. C. C. Crisman, one of our most energetic farmers, says he has been busy 48 hours every day looking after his new lambs, of which he has over 100.

Mr. C. B. Berryman is on the sick list this week.

Uncle Porter Combs has stayed housed up nightily close for some time. It seems to us that as the 40 and 10 days are up he might come out again.
